

ACTIVITIES OF COORDINATORS AT ANDIJAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Andijan State University

Faculty of History, field of professional work

1st stage student

Soyibjonova Dilnoza Shukhratbek qizi

Abstract: Andijan State University, as one of the largest educational institutions of Uzbekistan, implements many initiatives aimed at further developing the academic and social life of students. One of the important parts of these initiatives is the activity of coordinators. Coordinators are established in order to help students working in various fields in the university, increase their social activity and ensure their academic success.

Key words: coordinators, students, communication, quality of education, educational materials, ability, quality.

Coordinators mainly play an important role in solving the problems that arise during the study process, involving them in university life and helping them to participate in various activities. They try to understand the needs of students and listen to their ideas and suggestions. This process, in turn, serves to increase the quality of university education. The coordinators' first focus is to ensure the academic success of students. They work with students to plan lessons, communicate with teachers, and organize mutual student support. Coordinators also help provide students with the resources they need during their studies. This includes, for example, access to study materials, textbooks or online platforms. The second direction is the development of social activities. Coordinators participate in the organization of various social events, cultural and scientific conferences, sports competitions and other activities. They encourage students to participate in these activities, which helps them develop their social skills. Through social events, students have the opportunity to get to know each other, make new friends and develop teamwork skills. Another important task of coordinators is to focus on psychological and social problems of students. In order for students not to feel isolated, coordinators provide them with psychological support, counseling and, if necessary, opportunities to connect with specialists. This process helps create a healthy environment among students and is important in maintaining their mental health. For the successful implementation of coordinators' activities, their cooperation and teamwork skills are very important. Each coordinator must be an expert in his field, have the ability to communicate effectively with students. Their activities should also be planned and implemented in accordance with the goals and objectives of the university.[1]

In order to increase the effectiveness of the activity of coordinators at Andijan State University, it is important to organize various trainings and seminars by the university management. These trainings help coordinators to perform their duties more effectively and serve their professional development. Also, various activities should be held for the exchange of experience and development of cooperation between the coordinators. One of the important aspects of coordinators' work is communication with students. They need to be in constant contact with students, listen to their opinions and help them solve their problems. This process builds confidence among students and helps them actively participate in university life.[2]

Another direction of activity of coordinators is to increase social responsibility. They encourage students to be socially responsible, protect the environment and engage in community service. This, in turn, helps to increase social awareness among students and help them become useful to society. The results of the activities of the coordinators are reflected in the life of the university. Indicators of social activity, mutual support and cooperation among students increase. This leads to the overall development of the university, an increase in the quality of education, and an increase in the success of students.[3]

Coordinators provide support to students in a number of areas. Their main tasks are as follows. Academic support coordinators help students with their studies. They are involved in planning lessons, communicating with teachers and encouraging students to provide mutual support. It serves to develop exchange of knowledge and mutual support among students. Psychological and emotional support coordinators help students with stress, anxiety or other psychological problems by providing advice, listening to their problems and providing opportunities to connect with specialists when necessary. Participation in social events coordinators help in organizing various social and cultural events, sports competitions and scientific conferences. They encourage students to participate in these activities, which help develop their social skills. Information and Resource Coordinators provide students with access to learning materials, textbooks, or online resources they need. This helps the students to be better prepared during the study process. Career and professional development coordinators assist students in career planning and provide information on internship and job opportunities. They introduce students to professional development and professional development opportunities. Listening to students' opinions Coordinators listen to students' opinions and suggestions, try to understand their needs. This process helps to improve the quality of university education and builds trust among students. Community service coordinators encourage students to be socially responsible, protect the environment, and engage in community service. It helps to increase social awareness among students. In general, coordinators serve to further the academic and social life of students by providing them with comprehensive support.[4]

Conclusion:

In general, the activity of coordinators at Andijan State University is an important initiative aimed at the further development of the academic and social life of students. Their activities create a healthy environment among students, increase social responsibility and improve the quality of university education. The role of coordinators is very important in the life of the university, and it is necessary to further develop their activities, increase their efficiency and strengthen communication with students. This, in turn, will serve the future success of Andijan State University.

References:

1. Abdurahmanov, A. (2020). The role of coordinators in working with students. Andijan: Andijan State University Publication.

2. Muradov, Sh. (2021). System of psychological support in higher education institutions. Tashkent: Publication of the National University of Uzbekistan.
3. Rahimov, B. (2022). Activities of coordinators in student social events. Andijan: Andijan State University Publication
4. Israilov, D. (2023). Career planning and the role of coordinators. Tashkent: Publication of the Ministry of Education of the Republic of Uzbekistan.
5. Khudoyberdiyev, M. (2022). Listening to students' opinions and supporting them. Samarkand: Publication of Samarkand State University.
6. Karimova, N. (2021). Social responsibility and coordinators in higher education. Tashkent: Publication of the National University of Uzbekistan.
7. Tursunov, A. (2020). Communication between teachers and coordinators: problems and solutions. Andijan: Andijan State University Publication.